Access to Finance – CSR, Third Sector & Funding for Good

2020 was a tough year for everyone. Third sector businesses and social enterprises are no exception with unprecedented financial pressure across the economy, high level of redundancy, reduced staffing and wide general uncertainty about how the next 12 and 24 months will workout. Where has that left The Third Sector, and social enterprises? In a society where so many services are provided by them, how does the next 12 and 24 month business landscape look for them? We bring together financial experts who specialise in Third sector with Charities and Social Enterprises for a discussion about what the future looks like as we come out of a pandemic and address the most challenging economic conditions we've ever known. A video conference discussion broadcast to LIVEstream.

Richard Holling

An experienced business executive with 30 years of business and financial services experience. Richard has worked as a consultant, sales executive and manager for several major international companies. In 2018 he changed focus and started to work with start-ups and SMEs. In 2019 he formed Berkshire Dales, which offers SMEs advice on getting the right business finance, and other consulting services.
