#BI21.4 Business Risk & Resilience

Following our recent Business Risk and Resilience LIVEstream panel discussions, the panel take a look at the international comparisons for Businesses that want to build resilience and a robust trading base and position. A really difficult 15 months of trading through a pandemic and at the same time brexit creating a major shift in the UK's international trading relationships, no one can be quite sure what the future holds. Climate and environmental emergencies are bringing urgent and long-term changes through which every business will be affected. How does this play out across different cultures, nationalities and continents? Our panel opens up an international dialogue to ask how we should be looking at Risk and Resilience in our businesses going forward.
